Lively Debate Over the Fortifications Bill. AT THE MERCY OF A FOREIGN FOE. Mr. Dolph's Statement of What Ought to Be Done.

DESIGNATION BILL PASSED.

SENATE.

Among the petitions and memorials presented and referred was one from the banks of New Orleans deprecating any further discussion of the free coinage scheme.

House bill to amend sections 4783 and 5486 of the Revised Statutes (providing penalties for embezziement of pensions by the guardian of the pensioner) was reported back from the judiciary committee and passed. THE VACANCY DESIGNATION BILL

House bill to amend section 180 of the Revised Statutes (in reference to temporary designations to fill vacancies in case of the death, sickness or the absence of heads of depart-ments) was reported back with a substitute. The substitute amends three sections of the Revised Statutes on that subject and limits to thirty days the period of such designation, except where the duties are exercised by the assistant secretary, in which case there is no Mr. Hale preferred the simple bill of three lines, as passed by the House, to the more com-plex substitute reported back from the finance Mr. Morrill explained and defended the action of the finance committee.

Mr. Evarts said that he had made a careful Mr. Evarts said that he had made a careful examination of the clauses in the statute book relating to the subject and had come to the conclusion (without regard to the House bill, which he had not seen,) that all that was necessary was to enlarge the period within which temporary authority might be exercised. That had been, he understood, provided for by the House bill, which simply substituted thirty days for tendays. Whether any new regulations should be made hereafter—and he could not forsee their necessity—the House bill was all that was needed for the present exigency and, so far as he could see, all that was necessary for any future exigency.

Mr. Gorman expressed a wish that the bill would be let go over till tomorrow. Mr. Edmunds explained the views of the finance committee explained the views of the finance committee in reporting the substitute. It was important that while Congress was legislating on the subject it should endeavor to make the law perfectly clear. There has been doubt in the Attorney General's office, in the departments and with the President whether an assistant secretary (the President not interfering at all) could exercise the functions of the Secretary for more than ten days. Sometimes it had been held that he could and sometimes that he could not. THE PRESIDENT'S CALLERS this morning included Senators Hoar and Blackburn, Repre-

The substitute proposed to settle that question so that an assistant secretary discharging the duties of a Secretary (without any special designation but by force of law) might continue to do so indefinitely.

Further discussion showed the prevailing sentiment to be in favor of the House bill. So the substitute was rejected and the House bill passed.

THE FORTIFICATIONS BILL. The consideration of the fortifications bill was then resumed. The first item that attracted notice was one appropriating a million dollars notice was one appropriating a million dollars for the purchase of oil-tempered and annealed steel for high-power coast defense guns of eight, ten and twelve-inch caliber.

The committee on appropriations recommended a reduction of the amount to $800,000, and Mr. Gorman moved a still further reduction to $250,000 and made a statement to show that the amount should be reduced.

Mr. Dawes opposed Mr. Gorman's amendment and advocated that of the committee on appropriations. Referring to Mr. Hawley's speech of yesterday as to the absolute necessity of coast defenses, he said that the committee on speech of yesterchy as to the absolute necessity of coast defenses, he said that the committee on appropriations was in harmony with it to the utmost limit of prudence. But the committee found itself standing "between the devil and deep sca." On the one hand it found itself confronted by the sentiment proclaimed by the Senator from Missouri (Mr. Cockrell) that there was no necessity for any forti-

Senator from Missouri (Mr. Cockreil) that there was no necessity for any fortifications whatever and that nobody would ever approach the United States in a hostile attitude, however exposed the coast might be; and allied with that Senator was his might be; and allied with that Senator was his distinguished friend from New Hampshire (Mr. Blair), who proposed to turn the fortification bill into a missionary enterprise in Africa. On the other hand was the proposition of the Senator from Oregon (Mr. Dolph) to appropriate at once $121,000,000, to be expended over several years, for coast fortifications. While the at once $121,000,000, to be expended over several years, for coast fortifications. While the committee did not come to the same conclusion as the Senator from Missouri—that nothing should be done—it did not believe in the policy of the proposition of the Senator from Oregon.

The committee deemed it wiser to make the necessary appropriations year by year.

MR. DOLPH ON THE NECESSITY OF DEFENSES.

Mr. Dolph replied to Mr. Dawes and insisted on the necessity of coast defenses and on the the president, council and members of said institute on the occasion of their visit to the United States in October, 1890.

The Revolt in Portugal.—Mr. Souza Rosa, the Portuguese minister, has received cable-grams from his government which agree with the press dispatches in their account of the quickly suppressed revolt at Oporto, and state that there has been no disturbance elsewhere in the kingdom or any sign of sympathy on the part of the people with the alleged movement for the establishment of a republican form of government in Portugal. Mr. Souza Rosa says the revolt was, in fact, confined to only a part of the Fiscal Guard and to parts (not the whole) of three regiments of infantry, and is regarded as a matter of really very small political importance.

HOUSE.

After the approval of the journal the House proceeded to dispose of various matters of referring the measures to appropriate committees or sending them to conference.

Some discussion arose over the House bill granting a pension of $30 a month to James T. Dana, widow of Commander William. Starr Dana, with a Senate amendment increasing the amount to $50.

Mr. Lodge (Mass.) championed the amendment, which was antagonized by Mr. Cheadle (Ind.) and Mr. Kerr (Iowa) on the ground that it was in the line of class legislation.

The amendment was concurred in.

Senate bill was passed authorizing the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company to bridge the Tug fork of the Big Sandy river.

Also Senate bill to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Cumberland river for the use of the Chesapeake and Nashville Railroad Company.

morning the chairman read a telegraphic appeal from St. Louis for further hearings on Tonoxro, Feb. 3.-The Empire, the organ of he Dominion government, announces this mornprotest against further delay in the consideration of the Senate bill. Mr. Bartine said that the ing that, acting on the advice of his responsible ninisters, his excellency, the governor, has been pleased to dissolve the house of commons purpose was plainly to secure delay. He said further that if any effect was made to postpone action in committee until such time that the House could not act, it would be just as comand issue writs for a new parliament. The nominations will take place on Thursday, February 26, and the polling on Thursday, March

As the reasons which have induced the government to appeal to the country at this time the Empire gives the following:

"It is understood that the Dominion government has, through her majesty's government, made certain proposals to the United States for negotiations looking to the extension of our commerce with that country. These proposals have been submitted to the President for his consideration and the Canadian government is of the opinion that if these negotiations are to result in a treaty which must be ratified by the parliament of Canada it is expedient that the government should be able to deal with a parliament fresh from the people rather than with a moribund house. It is understood that Canada will send a delegation to Washington after March 4, the date on which the life of the present Congress expires, for the purpose of discussing information. Mr. Walker argued for deliberate considers tion of this important question. He did not propose to be suppresesed as he had in the propose to be suppressed as he had in the past. When a man had risen to argue against tree coinage he had been checked. He read from a local newspaper an extract speaking of the friction in the committee and attributing to Messrs. Bland and Bartine a distributing to harrass him. This stirred up the opposition, and Mr. Bland, interrupting, declared with great frankness that he had no doubt that the contemps from Messachusett. after March 4, the date on which the life of the present Congress expires, for the purpose of discussing informally the questions of the extension and development of the trade between the United States and Canada and settlement of all questions of difference between the two countries. This delegation will visit the United States capital, it is said, as the result of the friendly suggestions from Washington."

WHY PARLIAMENT IS DISSOLVED. The World, the ministerial organ, also announces the dissolution of parliament. This is its version of reasons for appealing to the is its version of reasons for appealing to the people at this time. Sir John MacDonald's government not long ago made a definite proposal to the Washington authorities for a settlement of all the existing differences between the two countries on the basis of an extension of trade between the two countries. It involves partial reciprocity, the enumerated articles to include quite a number of natural products. But the proposition discards any idea of commercial union or unrestricted reciprocity. Moreover these propositions were invited and suggested by the Washington authorities.

The commissioners from Canada and Great should not proceed now to vote upon the bill or fix a day for taking it.

This bill was in the interest of the rich and the corporations, and opposed to the interest of the wage workers. He would rather see the

Mr. Bland replied that he knew where it came from. It had been prompted by dispatches sent from Washington. Later on there was another sharp passage over some reference by Mr. Walker to the con-duct of the silver bill in the last session of Congress.

Mr. Walker bluntly refused to answer questions put by Messrs. Bartine and Bland so long as they charged him with dishonorable conduct.

Mr. Bland deprecatingly explained that he made no such charge. If the gentleman thought (as he believed he did) that free coinage was going to ruin the country he didn't blame him for trying to smother the bill. This reply added to Mr. Walker's anger and he appealed to the chairman for protection, saying: "Before God, I have no such intention as that of smothering the bill."

of smothering the bill."

The chair insisted that the gentleman should be allowed to proceed without interruption; so Mr. Walker went on again with his protest against speedy action, advising his colleagues to act with deliberation and get the sentiment judgment. Given facts, not theories—he didn't want to hear cranks—and he would sit and hear them. He wanted to hear men who knew what they were talking about, and when he had heard from such men, and not before, he would a date.

Mr. Taylor could not do it until he knew how many people wanted to be heard.

Mr. Vaux remarked that he would make the

the bill.

Mr. Walker moved to table the amendment.

Before the question was put Mr. Comstock made a few remarks in opposition to Mr. Bartine's motion. The motion to table was carried—yeas 7, nays 5—the chairman voting with the free coinage men. On the next question, however—hearing the St. Louis delegation—he voted in favor of doing so, and the motion prevailed—yeas 8, nays 4. The committee then adjourned until tomorrow.

first time since the death of Mr. Windom, and that calamity had the effect of making the assemblage a very sad one. Mr. Windom's vacant chair in the midst of the others had a most depressing effect upon the President and his advisors the President and his advisors and conversation turned inevitably upon the great loss which the administration has just sustained. Of course the matter of a successor to the Treasury portfolio came up incidentally, but the fact that at least two of the members of the cabinet have been very strongly mentioned for the position made it impossible for a free discussion of the matter. These two men are Secretaries Tracy and Noble, and now there is some talk affoat of transferring Mr. Proctor to the Treasury Department. But the feeling is growing that there will be no changes made in the cabinet—no transfers—and that the place will be given either to Assistant Secretary Nettleton or some person at present out of political life.

Gen. Nettleton's familiar acquaintance with Mr. Windom's methods, theories and policies is urged as one of the reasons why the President's choice may fall on him. Mr. Harrison would, in such case, follow the precedent made by Mr. Cleveland upon the retirement of Secretary Manning.

The commissioners from Canada and Great Britain will start for Washington on March 4, the date of the opening of the new Congress. The result of the new Canadian elections will The result of the new Canadian elections will be known March 6, the day the commissioners reach Washington. In order that this commission may have no uncertain sound Sir John MacDonald has decided to appeal to the country and ask for judgment on these proposals of his to the Washington authorities. He does not want the indorsement of a parliament in its last session, but the freship expressed opinion of the people of Canada, and for this reason he has advised the dissolution. The campaign will open by a big meeting in Toronto, where Sir John MacDonald, and probably Hon. Mr. Foster, will unfold the nature of the ronto, where Sir John MacDonald, and proba-bly Hon. Mr. Fester, will unfold the nature of the proposals to the Union bly Hon. Mr. Foster, will unfold the nature of the proposals to the United States. That meeting will be within a few days. Sir Charles Tupper will be one of the Canadian commissioners to Washington. He will take an active part in the election campaign as well. He will speak in Ontario, where the big battle is to be fought. On this issue Sir John MacDonald expects a majority of 60 to 70 in the new house. ANOTHER FIRE-DAMP EXPLOSION.

Had It Occurred a Few Minutes Scene

Nearly 100 Lives Would Have Been Lost. DENVER, Cot., Feb. 3.-A Newcastle, Col. special says: What almost proved to be another Mammoth mine disaster occurred here last of the people before acting.

Mr. Bartine followed, calling attention to the fact that Mr. Walker had talked until after 11:20 o'clock, and asking to be stopped in five minutes. He combated Mr. Walker's statement that the committee had offered no opportunity for hearings last year, and declared that there had been a standing invitation to all persons to appear. Further hearings would prevent action by Congress upon the bill. There was a widespread suspicion that such was the purpose of the committee. He would insist upon early action or would stop attending the meetings.

Mr. Vaux wants information.

Mr. Vaux said that he was a new member of the committee and asked for facts sufficient to enable an intelligent mind to reach a proper judgment. Given facts, not theories—he didn't want to hear cranks—and he would sit and hear them. He wanted to hear men who knew what they were talking about, and when he had theard from such want not hear cranks—and not hefore he would failed from such want to hear cranks—and he would sit and hear they were talking about, and when he had heard from such want to hear cranks—and not hefore he would sit and hear they were talking about, and when he had heard from such want to hear cranks—and not hefore he would sit and hear they were talking about, and when he had heard from such want to hear cranks—and not hefore he would sit and hear they were talking about, and when he had heard from such want to hear cranks—and not hefore he would sit and hear they were talking about, and when he had heard from such want to hear cranks—and not heard that it was impossible to tell if any one of them any too soon, as the flames immediately the black smoke came pouring out of the side of the mointed in mined and immediately the black smoke came pouring out of the side of the mointed in mined and immediately the black smoke care the mine, only to be driven back by the clouds of smoke. resources is sheer nonsense. The committee of the company are doing what any prudent business man would do, bringing things down to a practical basis. They are figuring possible expenditures for the preparation of grounds and erection of buildings at the outside estimates, so as to see where they stand and what cutting down will be needed.

"The company never figured on running the exposition upon any $10,000,000 basis. The $10,000,000 guarantee was demanded by Congress, and has been created by the $5,000,000 city loan. The company, however, saw from the first the necessity of raising more money than this and accordingly raised its own capital from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. The city loan of $5,000,000 is to be added to this, thus making the
